June 5 2009

And so our favorite marimbist, Mark O’Kaine, helps us close out another beautiful concert season. We have so many people to thank for past successful seasons—among them, loyal subscribers, attendees, performers, volunteers and donors.

We had highlights galore — A young violinist, Betty Zhou, and pianist Sean Chen from Juilliard deeply impressed us and introduced us to a new Asian audience. Jeffrey Uhlig's operatic quartet brought the house down with refrains from ten master works.*

But then we always have to ask “How we can improve next year on what we did this year”?

Another concern is to keep our subscription fee down in spite of rising expenses; fees charged to us for the performers, insurance costs, piano tuning, etc. However, we are holding the line and there will be no increase in the price of tickets for this season.

We are excited about the schedule of concerts for next year, as it is one we know will please all of you. (See overside for list of what’s coming up). We hope you will fill out the subscription coupon below and send it in with your check to Gerda Kelly so that you may continue to enjoy another great season of classical music.
